

Bangkok Airways to Increase Hong Kong to Samui Flights – Asia Travel Tips, Feb 2012

February, 2012

BANGKOK AIRWAYS will be increasing its flight frequency on the Koh Samui – Hong Kong route from daily to ten flights weekly starting from 31 March 2012.

Ms. Ariya Prasarttong-Osoth, Vice President – Sales of Bangkok Airways, said, “To respond an increasing demand and to offer more choice to our passengers, we have decided to add three more flights to each leg of the Samui - Hong Kong route.”

The additional flights are PG873 Koh Samui – Hong Kong (17:50 – 22:05) operating every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and PG874 Hong Kong – Koh Samui (09:05 – 11:10) operating every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday.

The airline operates the route with Airbus A319 aircraft configured with 12 business class and 108 economy class seats.
